Life is like a boat - without water it serves no purpose!

An East Java traditional dance group added plenty of colour at the Smiling Hill poolside wedding party of John Troupe and Erni Ernawati - more pics inside.

The rain did not worry the hardy souls who turned out to take advantage of Max Dean's FREE introductory dive experience in the Smiling Hill pool on Sunday.

Believe it or not there were a few who cancelled because of the rain ... guess they thought they might get wet. Max will be running another introductory program in a month or so.

Meantime he is keen to hear from anyone who might be interested in a weekend overnight dive trip to explore the reefs and beach off Trikora Beach on Bintan Island, about 30 minutes from Tanjung Pinang.

The all up cost is about Rp1.5 million including dive gear and good resort accommodation. Max can also arrange wreck diving for the really keen. Call him on +62 812 3605 8850

Weddings, parties ... anything !

The team at Smiling Hill were delighted when John Troupe and Erni Ernawati and their many friends chose our poolside for their wedding party.

John is a long standing friend of the Smiling team and many of our regular patrons while Erni was a valuable member of our Food and Beverage team before John stole her away.

The rain stayed away and all enjoyed a great evening with the traditional Javanese dancers (see front page) a real highlight.

driver and vehicle is available and can drop guests downtown at no charge.

The main attraction of Smiling Hill is the people – both our expat staff and current permanent residents are all well informed and happy to help out visitors with reliable and up-to-date information on everything from driving licences to golf outings - what to do, where to go and where NOT to go. They also make guests, particularly long-stay guests, feel very welcome. Our local staff is well trained and accustomed to dealing with expatriates.

Staff from McDermott and other companies stay with us permanently for these reasons and (because of the location). Many, many staff from other companies operating at Batu Ampar and other industrial estate are regulars at our Goodies Poolside restaurant.
