

Smiling Hill Weekly Newsletter

A perfect get-away and it's just next door !

EVER had a yen to spend a few tropical nights and lazy days in one of those idyllic traditional Malayu villages on stilts dotting the coastal waters of the Riau Islands?

Well you now have the chance to do something just like that, enjoying all the good bits of a rustic village environment but at the same time enjoying the comforts we have come to expect - a journey into a simpler interlude with a dash of adventure and romance. The folks at Telunas like to describe it as "rustic elegance". The team at the Telunas Beach Resort is offering friends of Smiling Hill and Goodies a special rate of 15% off the usual accommodation charges for any stay of two nights or more until the end of September - it's an excellent deal for families and couples looking for a special and different get-away. To get the discount all you need to do is refer to this newsletter when you email or telephone your inquiry or booking.

Nestled in a private cove on a small island about one and a half hours by boat from Batam, Telunas offers 360 degrees of unspoiled views of pristine jungle, white sandy beach, and open water.

Buildings are in traditional style with timber and thatched roofs and are accessed from a long jetty extending into the water from the beach. Cooling is by sea breezes and fans.

It is primarily the creation of a trio of young former university friends from the US and has been some six years in development.

RAMADAN TRADING HOURS

Goodies will be open for breakfast, luncheon and dinner throughout most of the fasting month of Ramadhan. Hours will be reduced for Idul Fitri and details will be advised in the newsletter.

Our television sports programs on the Big Screen also will continue as usual.

Our lighting will be subdued and the curtains will be down throughout the day out of respect for neighbours who are fasting.

The founders were enthused by one of their number who discovered the beautiful beach location when exploring the Riau Archipelago and immediately felt it was the perfect place for a get-away. They packed up their families, moved to Indonesia (via a period of heavy duty language studies in Java) and set to work.

Accommodation ranges from private chalets (2 people plus a nook for small kids) to deluxe family rooms to a multi-family suite able to accommodate up to 16 people. There is dormitory accommodation for groups.

There is also an attractive dining room, a meeting room, and lounge. Beers and softdrinks are available but spirits or wines are BYO.

Usual weekday rates range from SGD$145 for a deluxe family room to SGD$175 for a chalet (both rates for two people with $SGD30 extra for children (5-17 years) and SGD$75 per extra adult. Add SGD$20 for weekends (Friday or Saturday nights).

Rates for the multi-family suite accommodation vary depending on numbers and you need to inquire.

All room and chalet prices include three buffet meals for every night stayed.

The resort is mainly about relaxing in a beautiful, rustic and economical get-away but there is a range of activities for the more adventurous.

These include a waterfall hike, kayaking, swimming, volleyball, fishing, boat trips, a rubber plantation tour, a Malayu village luncheon, shrimping, candlelight dinners, beach fish boils and more. Some of these activities involve extra charges – you can find out more from the website at www.telunasbeach.com.

The team at Telunas pride themselves on the warmth of their welcome and the friendly family atmosphere they have created.

Travel to Telunas is from Sekupang via ferry (usually two services a day) at SGD$25 per person each way or you can arrange for travel at a time of your choosing by taking a resort fishing boat. This costs SGD$210 each way for the hire of the boat but it can accommodate 20-plus people.
